

Track 17: Planning for Post-Pandemic World
Room 101, 1st floor

Wednesday, July 12th

09:45-10:30, room 101

chair: Thomas Sigler

#121	Socio-institutional response to the pandemic context: Trends in the organisation, mission and target groups and territories of influence [Delgadp et al.]
#434	Community-based social capital and economic resilience of SMEs in Iran: the role of socio-economic and built-environment characteristics of the neighbourhoods [Larimian et al.]

11:00-12:30, room 101

chair: Thomas Sigler

#296	The Overlooked: Impacts of COVID-19 Measures on the Livelihoods, Mobility and Accessibility of Marginalised Groups [Schnittfinke et al.]
#500	Changes in Urban Spatial Structure Centrality after COVID-19 Pandemic in Seoul, South Korea [Gu]
#730	Erase and Rewind: Retrospective on the ideal neighborhood models from the last century till present [Memlük Çobanoğlu et al.]
#170	Planning for Short-Term Rentals in Post-COVID Environment: Lessons from Australia [Sigler]

13:30-15:00, room 101

chair: Piotr Lorens

#973	Leveraging spatial capital for pandemic-proof living environments [Chandel et al.]
#887	Green spaces as strategy for inclusive urban regeneration [Calmeiro]
#270	Does neighbourhood environment matter for people-centric street transition? An associational study of global pandemic-induced street experiments [Zhao et al.]
#331	Amplifying Weak Signals in Climate-Resilient Urban Planning: A building blocks methodology [Champlin et al.]

15:30-17:00, room 101

chair: Piotr Lorens

Session title: Participation
#684	Residential dissonance of teleworkers, its implications on relocation and impacts on urban sprawl in a post-COVID world. [de Abreu e Silva]
#120	Are we moving online? An analysis of COVID-19 impacts on e-shopping and work from home (WFH) and its consequences for urban planning [Colaco et al.]
#831	What can municipalities do in shaping the urban food system: Case of Istanbul [ilhan et al.]
#335	Attempting rural regeneration in borderline settlements of Pogoni after Covid-19 [Tomou et al.]
#406	The Relationship between Natural Resources and Children's Interaction with Nature in Experimental Primary Schools: A Study on Environmental Settings and Curriculum in Taiwan's Experimental Primary Schools. [Chan et al.]