

Organization committee
 Marcus Zepf, Paulette Duarte,
 Gilles Novarina, Lauren
 Andres, Florence Paulhiac.

Contacts
 Françoise Petitjean
 tel 04 38 49 84 61 / fax 04 38 49 84 51
 courriel : francoise.Petitjean@upmf-grenoble.fr
 Accueil
 tel 04 38 49 84 50 / fax 04 38 49 84 51

Institut d'Urbanisme de Grenoble
 14 avenue Marie Reynoard
 38 100 Grenoble

Tramway A
 Stop La Bruyère

plaquette natasha seigneuret

TERRITORIAL PLANNING:

imaging, anticipating and organising space

Thursday 7 February 2008 - Friday 8 February 2008

4th International symposium on territorial planning - Grenoble

« TERRITORIAL PLANNING : IMAGING, ANTICIPATING AND ORGANISING SPACE »

Territorial planning is currently subject to a wide range of debates. Traditional planning, focussing on statutory regulation of land use and on the control of urban sprawl, is no longer adequate. Strategic planning, which appeared more recently, is essentially focused on the economic dimensions of urban development. Therefore, it is criticised for the lack of weight it gives to environmental preservation and sustainable development. New planning tools, such as structure plans and guidance notes are being tested. They achieve a greater integration of the different fields of public policy (transport, planning,

Thursday 7 February 2008

8h30- Reception of the participants

9H00 - 12h30 Planning as a process: stakeholders and public debate

Chairwoman : L. Andres, researcher, Institut d'urbanisme de Grenoble (France)
G. Novarina, M. Zepf, professors, Institut d'urbanisme de Grenoble (France)
Introduction to the congress
- C. Ghorra Gobin, research director, CNRS, Paris (France) Planning and social ties: the relevance of scale
- F. Paulhiac, lecturer, Institut d'urbanisme de Grenoble (France) / M. Gauthier, professor, Université du Québec en Outaouais (Canada)
Public debate: comparing France and Quebec
- Debate
- Break

Chairman: B. Pecqueur, professor, Institut de Géographie Alpine (France)
- M. Vanier, professor, S. Rolland, planner, Institut de Géographie Alpine (France)
Conducting "grands territoires" projects and interterritoriality
- N. Seigneuret, P. Duarte, lecturers, Institut d'urbanisme de Grenoble (France) Projet urbain : an interactive and negotiated approach
F. Scherrer, professor, Institut d'urbanisme de Lyon (France) Renewing planning in Europe: coherence or competition
- Debate

12h30 – Welcome reception from the president of the Université Pierre Mendes France, A. Spalanzani

Lunch

14h-17h –Renewing territorial planning: objects, approaches and stakes

Chairman : S. Sadoux, lecturer, Ecole nationale supérieure d'architecture de Grenoble (France)
- K. Kunzmann, professor, IRPUD, Université de Dortmund (Germany)
Chinese stakes for European metropolis
- R. Rodrigues Malta, professor, UFR de sciences géographiques et de l'aménagement, Aix en Provence (France)
Port cities: planning interfaces
- M. Schmitz, PhD, BDEW (Union of water and energy management) Berlin (Germany)
Consequences of demographic change on planning water networks in Germany
- Debate
- Break

Chairman: P. Teillet, lecturer, Institut d'Etudes Politiques de Grenoble (France)
- L. Andres, researcher, Institut d'urbanisme de Grenoble (France)
Planning derelict lands changing processes: an impossible conciliation?
- C. Ambrosino, researcher, Institut d'urbanisme de Grenoble (France)
Planning and cultural clusters
- R. Verhage, lecturer, Institut d'urbanisme de Lyon (France)
Proactive territorial planning: the quest of the Grail in the Netherlands
- Debate

18h-20h : Public debate : researchers, students, practitioners
« Du schéma directeur au SCOT » : confronting experiences
Chairman, G. Jourdan, lecturer, Institut d'urbanisme de Grenoble
S. Rabilloud, EPIDA Isle d'Abeau - P. Auger & J. Savine, Syndicat mixte du Schéma directeur - O. Frérot, Agence d'urbanisme de Lyon (France)

environment, landscape etc.) Furthermore, they insist on development policy being implemented through projects. Today, territorial planning refers to approaches increasingly relying on negotiation in a more flexible and comprehensive way. How can we organise urban spaces that constantly change? Different questions are central for researchers and professionals. How to practice or organize urban territories? How to deal with different costs of planning, renewing and managing urban contemporary spaces? How to handle social and political conflicts?

Friday 8 February 2008

8h30 – 12h00 – Territorial planning scales: interactions and negotiations

Chairman: Y. Chalas, professor, Institut d'urbanisme de Grenoble, (France)
- A. Motte, professor, Institut d'Aménagement Régional, Aix en Provence (France)
Questioning territorial planning through innovative practices in Europe
- A. Faure, researcher CNRS, Institut d'Etudes Politiques de Grenoble (France)
Railway transport and regional planning: new topics for public policies
- O. Sykes, lecturer, Department of civic design, Liverpool (Great Britain)
New territorial planning in Great Britain: a successful bet or an incoming ambition?
Debate
Break

Chairman : G. Saez, director UMR PACTE (France)
- J. Cabral, professor, Faculté d'architecture, Université de Lisbonne (Portugal)
Urban policy goals and territorial planning: articulations and lessons from planning urban regions in Portugal
- S. Martin, lecturer, Institut d'urbanisme de Grenoble (France)
Splintered planning: a contorted jumping jack
- A. Delpiano, director of territorial planning and transport, Province de Bologne (Italy)
How to implement a territorial plan?
Debate

Lunch

14h – 16 h – Contemporary territorial planning: testimonies

Chairwoman: F. Paulhiac, lecturer, Institut d'urbanisme de Grenoble (France)
- Valeria Fedeli, researcher, Département Architecture et Planification, Politecnico di Milano (Italy)
The strategic plan for the province of Milan
- S. Hall, lecturer, Centre for Urban and Regional Studies, Université de Birmingham (Great Britain)
Towards a city-region approach to planning in the West Midlands
- P. Calthorpe, Calthorpe Associates, planner, Berkeley (United States)
Planning the end of urban sprawl (subject to confirmation)

Synthesis: P. Duarte, lecturer, Institut d'urbanisme de Grenoble (France)

Standard Rate : 180 euro
Student Rate : 40 euro