Research Associate (reference no: B323R) £27,319 - £31,671 per annum

The School is seeking to appoint a Research Associate to work on the politics of the vertical aspects of urban life with Professor Stephen Graham. The overall aim of the project is to advance theoretical and empirical understanding of how the vertical aspects of urban life challenge conventional ways of understanding the political and social aspects of cities in a world of intensifying urbanisation. Applicants are invited from a wide range of backgrounds including planning, urban design, human geography, architecture, urban studies, sociology, media studies, and political theory/critical international relations.

This post is fixed term for 28 months.

PhD Studentships £15,000 per annum

The School is pleased to offer 2 funded studentships for doctoral research to begin in September 2010 working with Professor Stephen Graham.

Studentship One (APL05): Cities, Infrastructure, Political Violence or Studentship Two (APL06): The Politics of Urban Verticality
