

UNISCAPE Master Class in Landscape Research

21-23 October 2010

European University Institute, Florence, Italy

UNISCAPE, European Network of Universities for the implementation of the European Landscape Convention, organises a Master Class in Landscape Research.

The three days program includes 13 hours of lectures, hosted in the European University Institute (Florence, Italy), and 8 hours of guided excursion in the Chianti area. The Master Class will develop the following themes: landscape identification and typology, participation, perception and effects of policy development on landscape. The topics will be analysed with reference to the European Landscape Convention and in particular to urban, rural and periurban landscapes.

Participation

The Master Class is addressed to PhD students, researchers and students interested in landscape and willing to discuss and deepen their knowledge comparing it with other approaches.

The number of participants is limited and they will be selected by the Faculty taking into account their resumes. The preregistration form is available on UNISCAPE's website.

Deadline for applications: 30 September 2010.

The Faculty is composed by:

- Mauro Agnoletti, Florence University and scientific coordinator of the Master Class
- Bas Pedroli, Wageningen University and UNISCAPE Director
- Marc Antrop, Ghent University
- Daniela Poli, Florence University
- Juan Manuel Palerm Salazar, Las Palmas de Gran Canaria University
- Oliver Rackham, Cambridge University
- Maggie Roe, Newcastle University
